KILLED IN INDIANAPOLIS

Misses Marguerite and Jacova Bacon Struck and Killed By Interurban Car Yesterday—Funeral Tomorrow.

Telegraph and telephone messages received here yesterday by relatives conveyed the sad news that Misses Marguerite and Jacova Bacon of Tuckahoe Ridge, who have been visiting their sister, Mrs. Henry Holton, in Indianapolis, Ind., for the past two weeks, were run over and killed by an interurban car Sunday morning about 9 o'clock. No further particulars of the terrible accident have as yet been received.

The deceased were members of one of the county's most highly cultured and eminent families, being daughters of the late John Bacon and wife. They are survived by three sisters, Mrs. R. B. Holton and Mrs. Wall Smoot of the county, and Mrs. Henry Holton of Indianapolis; also one brother, Mr. John Bacon of the county. They also have a large number of other relatives in this city and county.

The remains will arrive here today and will be taken direct to their late home in the county. The funeral will take place tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock from their late home with services by Rev. Frank Bierling. Interment in the Maysville cemetery.

Mrs. Davis C. Anderson of Cincinnati came up to Maysville, her old home, and for the past several days she has been the guest of her father, Col. B. A. Wallingford at the Central Hotel. Mrs. Anderson is a native of Maysville and is most kindly remembered by her former schoolmates and friends. She returned home yesterday.

NEAR TWENTY MILLION

Pounds Total Tobacco Sales at Maysville To Date—Sales May Go To 28,000,000 This Season

Maysville Slowly Creeping Up On Lexington as the World's Leading Tobacco Market

The Maysville tobacco market delivered and sold the past week 2,945,720 pounds. We sold this season 19,723,030 pounds, breaking all week and season records on the Maysville market.

The market was good on all grades from Monday morning until Friday night.

The high price of the week was $40. We are glad to state that there were several crops sold on the smaller markets which were rejected, reloaded on the wagons and brought to the Maysville market, selling from $2 to $3 higher on each grade.

The houses are all cleaned up for this week's business.

W. E. CLIFT, Supervisor.

More Than 5,000,000 Pounds Sold At Lexington Last Week.

Lexington.—Last week's sales on the Lexington tobacco market totaled 5,435,565 pounds, which were sold at an average price of $8.02 the 100 pounds.

This makes the sales for the season 49,769,145 pounds, with a season average of $8.25. Last year sales for the entire season on this market were 40,176,075 pounds, so the market has already sold more this year than last, and it is estimated that not more than 75 percent of the crop has been marketed.

TODAY IS WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY.

Today is the birthday anniversary of the greatest man of all the western hemisphere, George Washington. Take off your hat to his memory.

Season's Sales At Paris.

FARMERS UNION

For Mason County Discussed At Meeting Held In Police Court Room Saturday Afternoon.

A small crowd of some 30 or 40 of Mason county's leading farmers met in the Police Court Room at the courthouse Saturday and discussed the matter of having a Farmers' Union in Mason county.

Dr. Fred Mutchler, president of the State Union, was present, and explained just what the union was. He advised the formation of several local unions of one County Union as head.

Mr. Flannery, manager of the Farmers' Union Supply Company of Brooksville, also made a short talk and told how the store had helped the farmers of Bracken and Robertson counties.

A committee composed of Messrs. Dan Lloyd, A. M. Casey, D. L. Hunter, T. B. Holton and John Downing was appointed to look into the matter of starting a union in this county and to see that the work is pushed along.

Beginning next Saturday night at Minerva, meetings will be held all over the county to see what the consensus of opinion is in regard to the matter.

SPoke IN THE INTEREST OF THE CHRISTIAN CHURCH ORPHANS' HOME.

Last evening at the Christian church, Pastor Stahl, who contracted a very sudden and severe hoarseness after speaking at the morning service, gave way to Secretary J. S. Hilton of the Christian Widows' and Orphans' Home at Louisville, and for more than three-quarters of an hour this entertaining gentleman told of his great work and its aims for the future.

This home was established 30 years ago, being the first institution of its kind among our churches in America.

It has been a haven of safety to many a helpless little human bark tossed upon the sea of life.

More than 600 have found loving care in this home, coming to it from practically every county in the state of Kentucky, and hundreds of them have gone out to carry affection and gladness to as many childless homes.

This family averages $60, and our sole support comes from Kentucky churches, schools and generous friends.

Mr. Hilton left for Louisville early this morning.

NEW AUTO TIRE PROTECTOR.

Mr. A. M. Rye, who resides with his aunts, the Misses Bayless, in the county, was in the Ledger office Saturday and exhibited his new flexible metal auto tire protector, on which he has taken out letters patent at Washington. It is puncture-proof and auto men here who have seen it claim that it should fill the bill. If so, Mr. Rye will be in clover, as his invention should bring him a fortune.

WITH UNABATED INTEREST

The Linen Sale Continues

While stocks are depleted every day, there is still so much of interest, it is difficult to choose any one item for mention.

TABLE LINENS

For $1—Naturally a good table damask is expected at this price, but none of such goodness and beauty as this handsome snow-white Satin Damask. Twelve exquisite patterns, seventy-two inches wide.

For 50¢—A small price to pay for all-linen Damask. One instantly thinks of thin quality and narrow width, but we show a substantial Damask, 64 inches wide; good, solid, heavy. Unusual values also at 75¢, $1.19, $1.50 up to $3.50 yard.

NAPKINS

A half dozen items must hint of a half hundred. For $1.98 a dozen grass-blended, German Drill Napkins, twenty inches square—the sort that gives years of service. Dew-bleached Napkins, twenty-two inches square, a quality that will make friends and buyers at once; they are $2.50 a dozen. At $2.98 a dozen, heavy, well-made, bleached double Damask Napkins from Ireland, with plenty of patterns you will like, twenty-two inches square.

They are the kind you'd expect to pay $3.50 for.

HOW TO MAKE PEACE.

Oliver Wendell Holmes says that "the way to make a gentleman is to begin with the grandfather." The way to make peace, the most heroic thing in the world, is to begin with the infant. Paint the horrors of war! Dwell on the dirty tricks played to win battles! Cut uniformed parades! Take the khaki clothes away from the Boy Scouts and set them to "digging in" at the coal pile and bombing the woodpile! A nation of milksoaps? Well, if milksoaps is the antonym of the perfect fighting man, let's have him or let's drop the two-faced hypocrisy of cheering on the preparations and preliminaries of war and then praying that the perfected machine will be permitted by its proud owner to rust in esse—or in Essen—J. U. H. in Chicago Herald.

BUSINESS IN CONTEMPT.

Amendment of the anti-trust law, in order to permit American business interests to deal more successfully in foreign markets, where they have to meet the competition of great commercial combinations, has been vigorously advocated by our leaders of commercial enterprises in recent years. The opportunity now offering for an expansion of American trade in the markets of the world furnishes an excellent occasion for such legislation. Yet the administration's attitude toward it is altogether in keeping with its position on the shipping bill, a deliberate contempt for business experience and opinion and an autocratic defiance of business ideas.—New York Sun.

THE PERFECT MAN.

The perfect man's measure is 38 inches around the chest, 34 inches at the waist and 40 at the seat, according to the verdict of the International Custom Cutters, who met in Milwaukee to fix American styles for 1915.

The tailors directed attention to the fact that whereas a woman may maintain a form from year to year, a man's waist line, in the absence of corsets, is likely to show great variation as he approaches 40. Therefore, the perfect man is generally a youngster.—New York Sun.

ONE IS BORN EVERY MINUTE, IRV.

Irvin Cobb didn't settle the European war, but he was quick to commercialize his copy and is now reaping a rich harvest of golden dollars all right. Herbert Corey and Richard Harding Davis will also soon hasten home to cash in from the cat-American sucker crop.

PROMOTE DESTRUCTION.

The heads of the Krupp works have been awarded the gold medal of the German League for the Promotion of Industry. Maybe we're dense, but it's certainly hard for a mere American to see how Krupp guns, or any guns, promote industry.—Owensboro Messenger.

AND SOME VICTORY, TOO.

In speaking of the Republican convention in Louisville last week, the Louisville Post says: "The dimensions of the conference and the interest shown makes it clear that there is to be a real fight."

What has become of Great Britain's vaunted mastery of the seas, when a ship has to hoist a neutral flag to get to a home port?—Davenport Times.

PREFERS TO GET OUT THE PAPER.

The trouble with the job of Congressman is that it is too big for us and there is no way to trim it down so that it will fit. Neither is there any way to build up the editor of the Farmer so that he will fit the job. He would likely make as good an errand boy as a lot of other Congressmen. He could ball up postoffice appointments and grandstand on "issues." He could send out turnip seed labeled goldenrod and work up quite a subscription list for the Congressional Record. He could get somebody who is engaged in the business to write a speech for him and secure permission to have it printed in the Congressional Record. He could collect his per diem and $22-a-day salary and then come home and tell his constituency what a wide swath he was cutting at Washington; how the President called him in every day to ask his advice and how the speaker of the House always looked over to him for "tips." With these few remarks we trust we will be taken at our word. Let's allow the dream to dissipate in the cool winter air, to return no more.—Oshorne, Kansas Farmer.

WHAT DID SHERMAN SAY?

There has been much speculation as to the name by which the European war will be known to history. Many names have been suggested, such as "The War of the Liars," "The War of the Censors," "The War of the Whole D—n Family," and "The War of the Nations." All of these have more or less merit, but when we encounter from day to day such names as Borjimow, Skiermiewic, Szydlowiecka, Dakhova, Sachaezow, Bzura and Onjok we can't help thinking that a mighty good name would be "The War of the Jawbreakers."—Louisville Times.

NO NEW NAPOLEON HAS AS YET DEVELOPED.

So far no general has appeared on either side of conspicuous military genius. There are plenty of talented leaders for all of the armies, and their abilities seem to be pretty evenly matched. This being the case, the war must assume the character of a long, grinding attrition, with the side having the longest purse and the most men eventually wearing the other out.

MORAL CONDITIONS AT THE PANAMA-PACIFIC EXPOSITION.

Representatives of a group of national reform and social organizations, including the Federal Council of the Church of Christ in America, are deeply concerned relative to vice conditions in San Francisco during the Panama-Pacific Exposition. It is reported that while conditions inside the grounds seem to be safeguarded, the city of San Francisco has not taken the same precautions, and indeed it is frankly said that the city is to be "wide open" during the exposition. The organizations interested are now urging the authorities upon the commissioners, asking that they take action relative to conditions outside the grounds as well as inside.

THOUSANDS OF HORSES PASS OVER THE C. & O.

Forty-five thousand horses have passed through Maysville over the C. & O. bound for the European war zone, was an estimate made here today.

These animals are handled on fast through freights after being assembled in trainloads at St. Louis, Kansas City, Chicago and Columbus, O. Most of them come from St. Louis and are brought to Cincinnati over the B. & O. and are transferred over to the C. & O. It is roughly estimated that 75 per cent of the eastbound freight is tidewater business and of this amount probably 25 per cent is for the war zone alone, and consists of horses, grain and provisions. The indications point to a very good business for some time to come.

WEATHER REPORTS

are sometimes erroneous. For instance, balmy and sunshiny weather is predicted for this week, but who knows but that the threes of winter may again be upon us even before this article is in print. It reminds one of the old story of the old farmer who started out on a beautiful, bright morning in May with an umbrella. His wife asked him his reason for taking his umbrella when the weather was so pretty. He replied that the almanac predicted rain, while the newspapers said fair and warmer, and he therefore did not know which to believe. FRANK CASE UP TO HIGHEST TRIBUNAL.

Washington, February 22.—One of the first cases on the docket of the Supreme Court of the United States, which is to reassemble tomorrow after a two weeks' recess, is that of Leo M. Frank, convicted of the murder of Mary Phagan, an Atlanta factory girl. The case is to come before the highest tribunal in the form of an appeal, made by Frank's attorneys for a writ of habeas corpus.

The declaration that Frank was deprived of his constitutional rights, in that he was not present in court when the verdict in his case was rendered, is said to be employed as the main argument in the appeal for the writ of habeas corpus. It is said that this involves points of law that never have been passed upon by the Supreme Court of the United States.

The case will be heard by the Supreme Court on oral argument and printed briefs. No testimony will be introduced. The state of Georgia will be represented by Attorney General Warden Greee and Hugh M. Dorsey, solicitor general, who prosecuted Frank. Frank will be represented by three of the attorneys who have been interested in his case from its beginning.

If the Supreme Court refuses the writ of habeas corpus it will at the same time set a new date for the execution of the death sentence against Frank. Then there will be no hope left for the convicted man except an appeal to the Governor of Georgia for clemency. Whether Frank could be tried again, in the event the Supreme Court grants the appeal for a writ of habeas corpus, is a question on which lawyers do not seem to agree.

NEW YORK CITY'S

New Armory Will Be One of the Greatest and Most Complete In Its Appointments of Any In the World.

The Eighth Coast Artillery of the national guard of New York will soon have an armory which will rank among the greatest structures of the kind in the world. It will be the largest and most complete armory and will take rank with many of the world's famous forts. The structure is being reared on the site of the Jerome park reservoir in the Bronx section, and will have a floor space of 225,000 square feet, which is about three times that of the Madison Square Garden. If this space were filled with chairs it would seat 30,000 persons, and the gallery will seat 3,000 more.

A stroll around the interior of the drillroom means a walk of a quarter of a mile. Eight thousand tons of steel entered into the construction of the framework. In the basement there will be 20 200-yard rifle ranges. One of the most striking novelties of its equipment is that of dispensing with the board door of the drillroom and the substitution of dirt covered with tanbark.

PHEASANTS ON WAY

2,500 Ring-Necked Variety To Be Distributed In 120 Counties.

Lexington.—There was shipped from England 2,500 English ring-necked pheasants, to be distributed equally among the 120 counties in Kentucky, according to a statement given out by Executive Agent J. Quincy Ward of the State Game and Fish Commission. The pheasants are extremely wild in their habits and larger than the American bird of that name. The birds were shipped in connection with another assignment that go to the Pennsylvania Commission, and, upon arrival at Philadelphia, the discount in the army, and the reported dissolution of the Congress of Vienna.

MISS STONE AND MISS RUE TELL STORY OF THEIR MOUNTAIN WORK.

A splendid audience composed of members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union and their friends, came out to hear Miss May Stone and her assistant, Miss Helen Rue, at the home of Mrs. G. W. Geisel Friday night.

The president, Mrs. Joseph H. Dodson, presided over the meeting. Mrs. Oliver J. Womble led in prayer, after which the Union sang "It's Coming, the Morn for Which We Pray."

The speakers were then introduced. Never has the Union listened to more interesting speakers than Miss Stone and Miss Rue. They spoke here in the interest of the W. C. T. U. Settlement School of Hindman, Ky. The present equipment of their school consists of 60 acres of land, a large schoolhouse, a powerhouse, a workshop, one small cottage, a hospital, the orchard house, containing laundry, kitchen, dining room and bed rooms, two houses of 12 rooms each, a barn and silo, a log smoke house and a reservoir. This school is in the mountains and is doing a great work for our mountain people. They are our people and every Kentuckian should feel it their duty and privilege to contribute to the support of their school. The Union will send a donation of money the first of March, and we will be so glad to have the public contribute to this noble work. Send all donations to Mrs. Moody, Sutton street.

EXIT FRANK JAMES.

Of Brunswick's fated chieftain, Lord Byron affectionately wrote: "There have been tears and breaking hearts for thee." Of Frank James, the last of our outlaw chieftains, who died peacefully on his farm in Missouri, we can say the same, but they were the tears of orphaned children and the breaking hearts of widows. Tears of affection were lacking in the case of the James boys. Their only benefit was to inspire a popular song which enriched its publisher, and a melodrama, "The James Boys in Missouri," which gathered in the shekels during the reign of "blood and thunder."

One Hundred Years Ago Today.

What these investigators really mean is that the Belgian situation is without parallel in their experience. Doubtless it is bad. Hundreds of thousands of people have been made homeless. Many have lost their lives. Employment is hard to find; the crops have been wasted; property has been destroyed; hunger and distress are to be seen everywhere.

The James boys were the product of an epoch which, in all probability, will not be repeated even under the same stress of civil war which inspired those outlaws to bloody deeds of daring. The spirit of the age which propagated them, and in which their bridled passions for blood and rapine were kindled, has passed away. Its like will not be known again in the United States.

When these investigators really mean is that the Belgian situation is without parallel in their experience, because it is undeserved. We have heard little of the distress in that portion of northern France, occupied by the German armies. Certainly the French are saying little about their sufferings, which must be, in those regions, nearly as severe as in Belgium. France knew that she was to be invaded when the war began; France is fighting, for her national existence, and her people are prepared to bear the suffering bravely.

The same thing holds true, in less measure, in eastern Europe. The populations of Poland and those of Austrian Galicia never had any hope of avoiding the consequences of war, should war come.

The assistance that Belgium has received from other countries has been larger than what a nation so afflicted has ground to expect. At one time 1,000,000 Belgians were being cared for in Holland. Hundreds of thousands have gone to England, where vast sums have been raised for their relief. The people of the United States have given freely to this cause. Not all the distress has been, or can be, alleviated; Belgium has suffered much and has more to bear, if it proves that Belgium is to be the battleground for the spring campaign—but it can not be successfully maintained that Belgium's sufferings are "without parallel in history."

Something more than a parallel, something infinitely worse can be found in the annals of the Thirty Years War in Germany, without seeking to go back to those dark days of the past when invading armies—Cr

Josh Billings Says:

"The time to set a hen is when she wants it."

That sound philosophy is likewise true of men. The time to sell them winter clothes is when they want them. And this community is happy in the possession of a number of such citizens.

Yet, in most stores, as the man of the street would say, "pickings are now mighty slim." Ragged assortments, broken down lots, odds and ends, and leftovers are not tempting dishes to set before a clothes hungry man.

But at the live store we replenish our stock as fast as it is depleted so that our selections are as full, our variety as diverse, as they were when the season opened—and the prices are reduced.

QUARANTINE ORDER NO. 28

Issued By the State Live Stock Sanitary Board of Kentucky, February 18, 1915.

A second outbreak of the disease commonly known as foot and mouth disease has occurred in the state of Kentucky, and now exists in at least two counties, and probably more, and these counties are in quarantine. Certain portions of 20 other states and territories are or have been visited by this plague. It is impossible to know exactly the centers of infection in the state in which this outbreak has occurred, and it is impossible to tell at what time the states that are now free may have an outbreak of this disease; and, therefore, in order to protect the animal industry of Kentucky,

It is ordered by the State Live Stock Sanitary Board of Kentucky that no cattle, sheep, other ruminants, or swine intended for stocker, feeder or breeding purposes shall be brought into the state of Kentucky from any state in which this disease has existed, or in which it exists at the present time; and this order shall be applicable to any state in which an outbreak may hereafter occur, when the fact becomes known and is certified by the Bureau of Animal Industry at Washington.

It is further ordered that no sales shall occur in public market places, or upon the streets in any city or place in the state of Kentucky or of any stocker, feeder or breeding cattle, sheep, other ruminants, or swine. This order is issued to cover in particular what is known as "court day sales" in this Commonwealth, and shall not apply to private sales in free territory.

It is further ordered that no cattle, sheep, other ruminants or swine, intended for stocker, feeder or breeding purposes, shall be shipped into Kentucky from any state or territory in which no outbreak of this disease has occurred, unless said shipment shall be unloaded in the presence of, and be inspected by a county, state or federal inspector, and no movement of above named animals shall occur from one county to another in this Commonwealth unless the animals are examined and certified by a county, state or federal inspector in the county in which they originate, and the same movement of animals be inspected and certified to by a county, state or federal inspector in the county which is the destination of said movement.

This order shall in no wise supersede or cancel Quarantine Order No. 27, heretofore issued, which places certain counties and parts of counties in CLOSED and Modified area.

Effective from and after midnight, February 18, 1915.

All persons and common carriers will be governed accordingly.

State Live Stock Sanitary Board of Kentucky,
